If you have non-spray property and would like a native milkweed garden installed and tended for you for up to a year to get it established – come and hear about the Butterfly Flyway Project.

Monarchs are disappearing due to the loss of the ONLY plant that their caterpillar offspring can eat!

Rusk Ranch Nature Center is implementing a project to build garden beds of local milkweed where ever there is land that will not be sprayed or mowed.

The Nature Center has nurtured hundreds of local milkweed starts and will start a bed of milkweed at your location.

- What you need to qualify
- How the garden will be installed
- How to help the plants get established
- Magical wildlife that will also be attracted

Be a part of the solution!
